Emmett S. Baken's Sudden Death.
Emmett S. Baken, a carpenter, residing at No. 32 Marion avenue, West Indianapolis, died suddenly early yesterday morning. Baken resided alone with his mother, who was attracted by groans emanating from his room. She found him unconscious, and before she could summon assistance he expired. He was in his usual health when he retired Thursday night, and his death is considered somewhat strange by the corner. Baken was thirty-two years old.

WAS A SHOCKING ACCIDENT

John Bergmann Dragged Under the Wheels by His Runaway Horse.

Fell from His Wagon in a Collision with a Mule Car—Driver Arrested at the Instance of Maholm.

John Bergmann received a number of serious injuries in an accident on the stockyard street-car line yesterday morning. Bergmann is the brother-in-law of Annie Wagner, under indictment for the poisoning of the Koester family, and resides at the corner of Chadwick and Wilkins streets. He is employed as a driver at the Halweg box factory, on Morris street, and yesterday morning was delivering a load of large boxes to the packing house west of the river. As he was crossing the bridge over White river car No. 54, driven by John Suma, came up behind him, going in the same direction. The driver called to Bergmann to leave the track, but it was impossible for him to do so at the moment, as there was a slight depression in the street just west of the bridge, and he was compelled to drive a distance of about thirty-five feet before he could leave the track.

As he attempted to drive from the track the rear wheels caught upon the track and the rear end of the wagon swung directly across the track. The car ran into the wagon and the shock threw Bergmann from his seat upon top of the boxes. As he fell his arm caught in the whiplike tree and was broken in four places. Some of the boxes were shaken from their places and falling upon the horses frightened them and they started to run away and drew the wagon upon the prostrate form of Bergmann. When he was finally rescued he was unconscious and was carried into the office of a physician and Dr. Marace summoned to attend him. It was found that in addition to the broken arm his right shoulder had been dislocated, and there was a fracture of the skull. The wound upon the head was horse-shoe shaped and appeared to have been made by a kick from one of the horses attached to the wagon. The physicians, after consultation, decided that it would not be expedient to attempt amputation at the time, and there is a possibility of saving the limb, which, however, will be stiffened if it is. The condition of the injured man prevented his removal yesterday, and he was left at the office where he had been taken immediately after the accident.

The officials of the company were notified, and H. C. Allen, attorney for the company, went immediately to the scene of the accident and spent several hours there investigating into its causes. In the meantime Marshal Maholm, of West Indianapolis, who had heard of the accident, came to the city and, going before Justice Daniels, made affidavit, upon which a warrant was issued for the arrest of Suma for assault and battery with intent to kill. Suma was arrested about 11 o'clock, and the officers of the company notified of the arrest. They replied that they would come to the court in a short time and asked that the driver be held for awhile before being committed to jail. After several hours waiting none of them appeared. S. E. Urmeton came over to the justice's court in answer to a call by a member of the brotherhood, and succeeded in securing the release of Suma on his own recognizance.

Suma says that the mules were walking, and that there was room for him to have passed the wagon had it not been thrown around upon the track.

Collided with a Pole.

John Spansel, residing at No. 536 West Georgia street, and employed by the Brown-Ketcham Company, at Haughville, attempted to board a West Washington street car yesterday afternoon. He chose the wrong side and struck a pole. He was severely cut and bruised, but it is thought he is not injured internally.

ROW OVER MONEY FOUND.

Hack Driver's Discovery of Two Ten-Dollar Bills That Created a Small Riot.

Yesterday afternoon a hack drove up to the curb in front of No. 93 North New Jersey street, and while two ladies were making a call, the driver, Luke Morrison, nearly created a riot in the neighborhood by picking up from the sidewalk two ten-dollar bills. A man named Benjamin Weaver, employed in the yard of the residence, claimed the money as his own, and demanded it, but the hackman, suspecting that he was being "worked," refused to hand over the money. A loud argument ensued and several men in the vicinity misinterpreted the condition of affairs, and a small mob gathered. Morrison followed, but Morrison managed to escape from the scene and drove to police headquarters where he turned the money over to Superintendent Colbert and demanded the arrest of Weaver on the assault and battery charge. The latter came in later and after another stormy argument established himself as the owner of the money. He was not arrested and Morrison was exonerated.

HE WAS NOT A BIGAMIST.

James Hudson, Convicted at Madison, Last Spring, Pardoned by the Governor.

The Governor yesterday issued a pardon to James Hudson, who, in April of the present year, was sent to the penitentiary from Madison for bigamy. He was married in Madison in February to a girl by the name of Bethie Parry, and was arrested shortly after for having a wife in Kentucky, from whom he had not obtained a divorce. He strongly asserted at the time that he had obtained a divorce, but from lack of money to do so was unable to prove his statement. Since then friends have become interested in his behalf, and they looked up his previous record, and found that he had been telling the truth. The papers of his divorce proceedings were forwarded to the Governor, and he issued the pardon.

Charged with Stealing a Dog.

Mrs. Rettle Reed occupies apartments in the second story of a building at the corner of Wabash and East streets, while Miss Emma Nye lives below. The women are neighbors, but not friends. Miss Nye, it seems, has for a month past owned the pug-dog sort of a dog, which was the envy of the neighborhood and which was especially desired by Mrs. Reed. In fact, this lady's admiration for the dog was so intense that when the animal was missed from its usual haunts a day or two ago, its owner at once suspected that it had gone up stairs to Mrs. Reed's apartments. Strongly impressed with this dark suspicion she last night swore out a warrant for her neighbor's arrest, charging her with petit larceny.

Husband Got the Worst of It.

Thomas Harris, a South-side resident, became convinced yesterday afternoon that his wife was spending too much time at the home of one of her friends, a Mrs. Smith, at No. 32 Hoosier street. Thomas repaired to the residence and attempted to bring Mrs. Harris away by force, but the latter demurred, and with the help of Mrs. Smith was about to use a hatchet on the husband, when patrolmen Mathy and Paine, called to the vicinity by the excessive uproar, put a stop to proceedings by locking Harris up.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

This being my first general Clearance Sale, I propose to make it "a hummer," even if my competitors should "turn green with envy." I have not been in this business forty or fifty years, consequently my stock is modern, not ancient; fresh, not covered with "the dust of the ages." I have not space in this advertisement to specify all particulars. Allow me to say that this is a genuine, fair play Clearance Sale. I offer every cloth-bound book in stock at a discount of 25 per cent. from publishers' list prices. This includes all Bibles, both family Bibles, teachers' Bibles and hand Bibles, of which I carry the best assortment to be found in Indiana. On three or four Bibles I make a special net price, having bought them in extra large quantities.

100 Teachers' Bibles, Regular price $5.50; I offer at $3.50.

25 Teachers' Bibles, Regular price $4; I offer at $2.50.

100 Teachers' Bibles, Regular price $3.80; I offer at $2.

I offer also a full line of STATIONERY at a discount of 25 per cent. from present selling prices.

A few staple articles I offer at a much larger discount. Come and look through. I do not ask you to buy unless you realize that every item offered is a bargain. In fact, every item in the store goes at a discount except Sunday School supplies and Christian Endeavor supplies, which are handled on very, very close margins, almost like trading dollars.

60 Pansy Books, Regular price $1.50; I offer at 88c.

25 'Three Little Pepper' Books, Regular price $1.50; I offer at 88c.

500 Bertha Clay Books, In elegant cloth binding, worth 50c; I offer at 18c per copy.

350 Copyright Books, In elegant cloth binding, such authors as Mrs. Southworth, Mrs. Caroline Lee Hentz and others. I offer at 25c. Price until lately was $1.50 and $1.75. I have been selling at 33c. They go in this sale at 25c, etc., etc., etc.

Many other bargains which I have no room to name.
